Jack, I like the way you're going to be really... I'm glad you're going to be a great person. I hope you'll be a friend always. Best of luck always.

Jack,
Your a great kid. May you succeed in everything you attempt and back in the picture and at ASU.

See you up there,

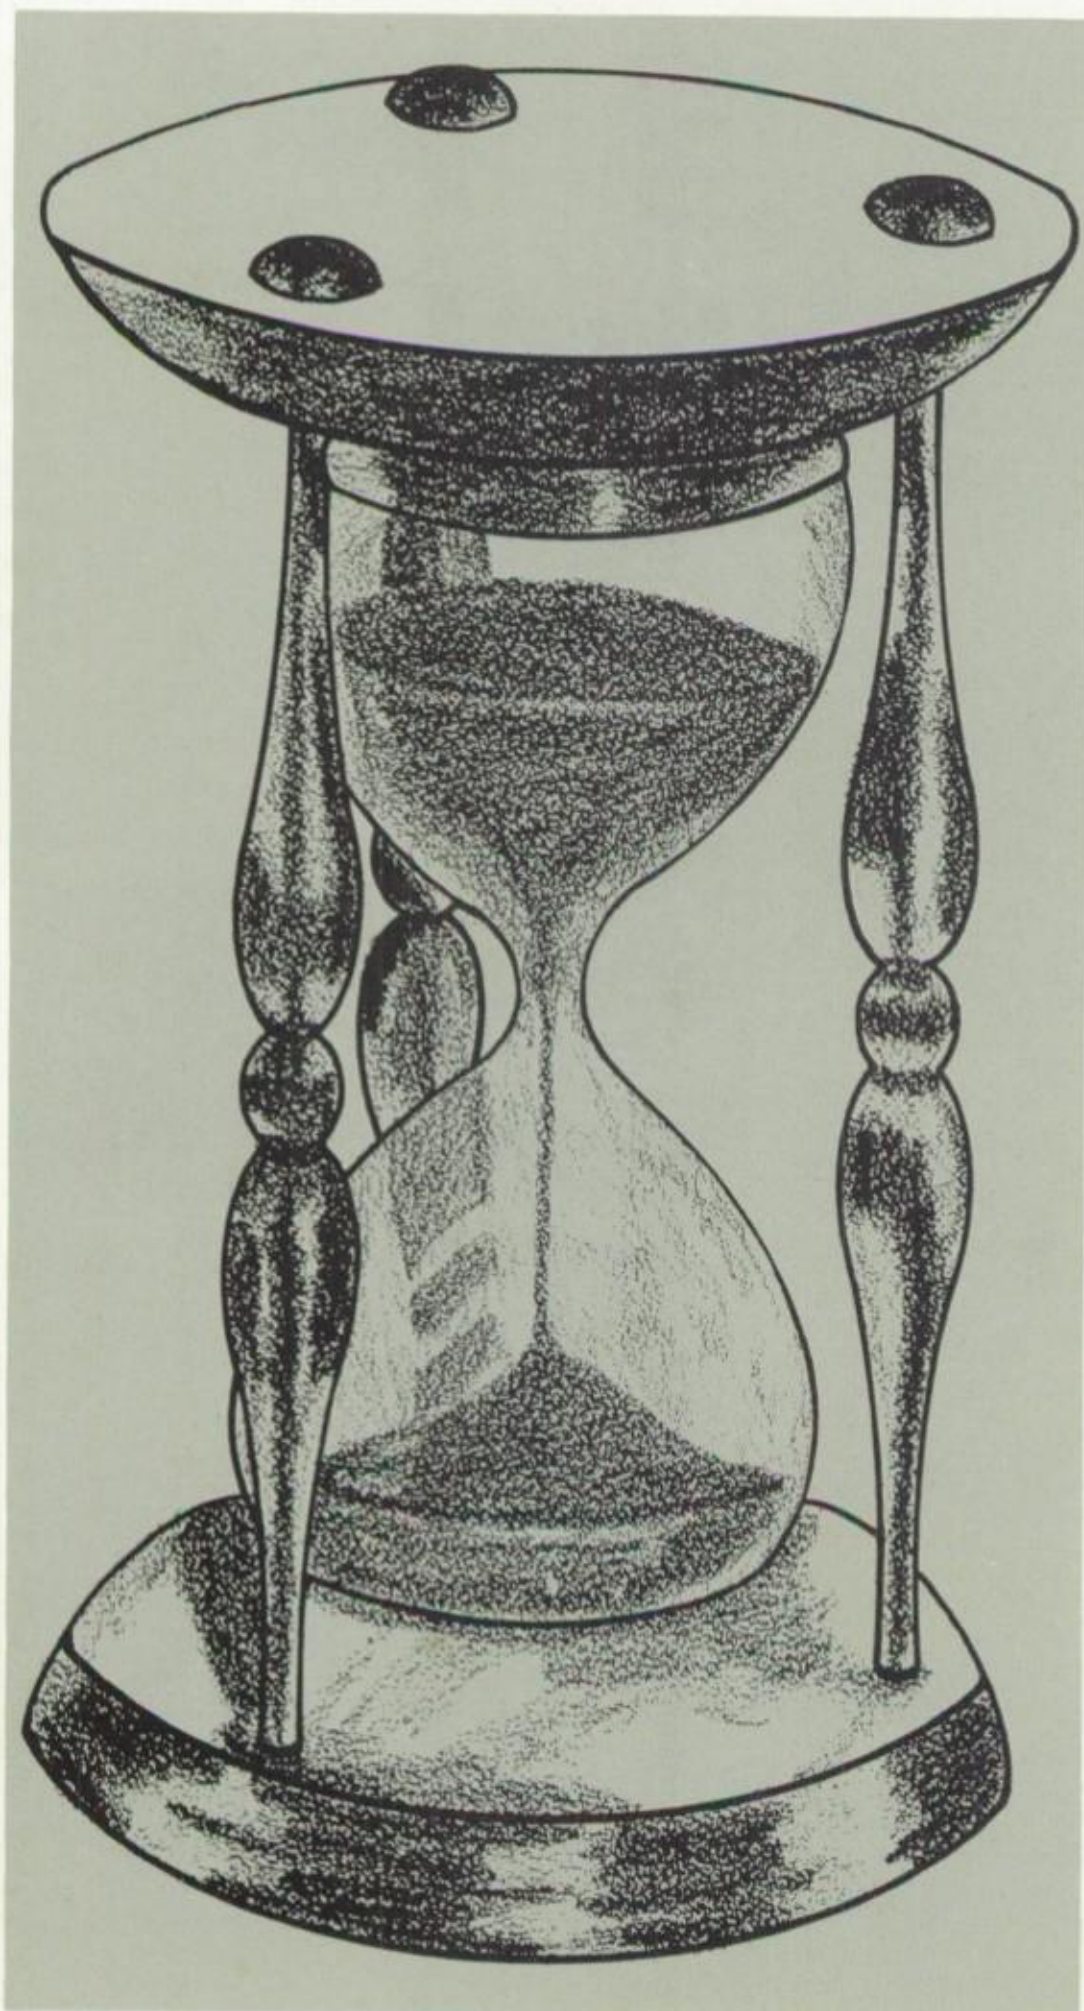

Rick Rice

gone, been into previous street a sweet over a sweet and over. How you are not boy. How and I

Jack, a well, well, well. We shore have raised a shovel, that's a deep subject.) My diving really seems to scare diverse types of Hades in varied places. My god, and my morbid ideas and guttles creep out of you! I don't get all strange on you to really interest you. I'll do just what I want to and care less what people think. But I don't get all strange on you like you do! Well, facts, have weight why don't you?!! You're a real great guy! Jack, and we've had one load of fun. Hope you can stay friends when we get in college, even though you could kill me! We'll have to see myra at the Goddard one time. Don't raise too much, and have lots of everything... except weight. Don't get too much this summer. I would say something about all the... we've raised, but it would take up 72 pages, 3 paragraphs, and 50 words of this annual. (I wanted it.) Carry out several parties inside at ASU, why don't you, and try not to get into too much trouble. Remember! Hide your mag, you big Q., and don't apple to much. You're a goonyard, you know it to me! Hide your mag, you big Q., and don't apple to much.

Hungry Jack,
you are a real fine guy.
I enjoyed P.E. and playing football with you. You catch a lot of heck but you have a great sense of humor. Best of luck at Appalachian next yr. Hope you like it and do good. Come see me at state next year and we'll go to a ballgame or something.

One hundred and eighty days for us . . .

1970-71 is a time for us. One hundred and eighty days of time to come to East, to work and play, to lead and follow, to love and to hate, to laugh and cry, and finally to go.

Sophomores arrive at East for the first time on August 26 and settle right in with the rest of us. Maintenance men from the county have readied the building. Mrs. Puckett begins her day precisely at 8:00 AM. Family living students enjoy their class, especially cook-outs. Fans anticipate that very first ballgame and come to stay even in a thunder storm. Ladies in gowns and men in tuxs come to the Prom.

a time to come . . .

to work . . . to play . . .

Each day, school life at East Rowan is a mixture of work and play.

Band members practice to master complicated half-time routines during sixth period. Pep rallies in the stadium are fun. Oops, is that really Brad under all those people?

On a spring day, students imprisoned within these walls long for the three o'clock bell. Vickie works at instilling school spirit. Even the autumn leaves dance and play as they are tossed by the wind outside the classroom windows.

to lead . . . to follow

Seniors have followed for two years but are the leaders in '71. They lead the Mustangs to victory on the football field.

President Lingle leads, but he also serves by mowing the baseball field. East Rowan as No. 1 is recognized throughout the community. Future business leaders gain experience in business courses.

Co-editors struggle to meet that very first deadline. A teacher points the way in a skill-building course. Baseball addicts follow their ears to the student office to watch the World Series on TV.

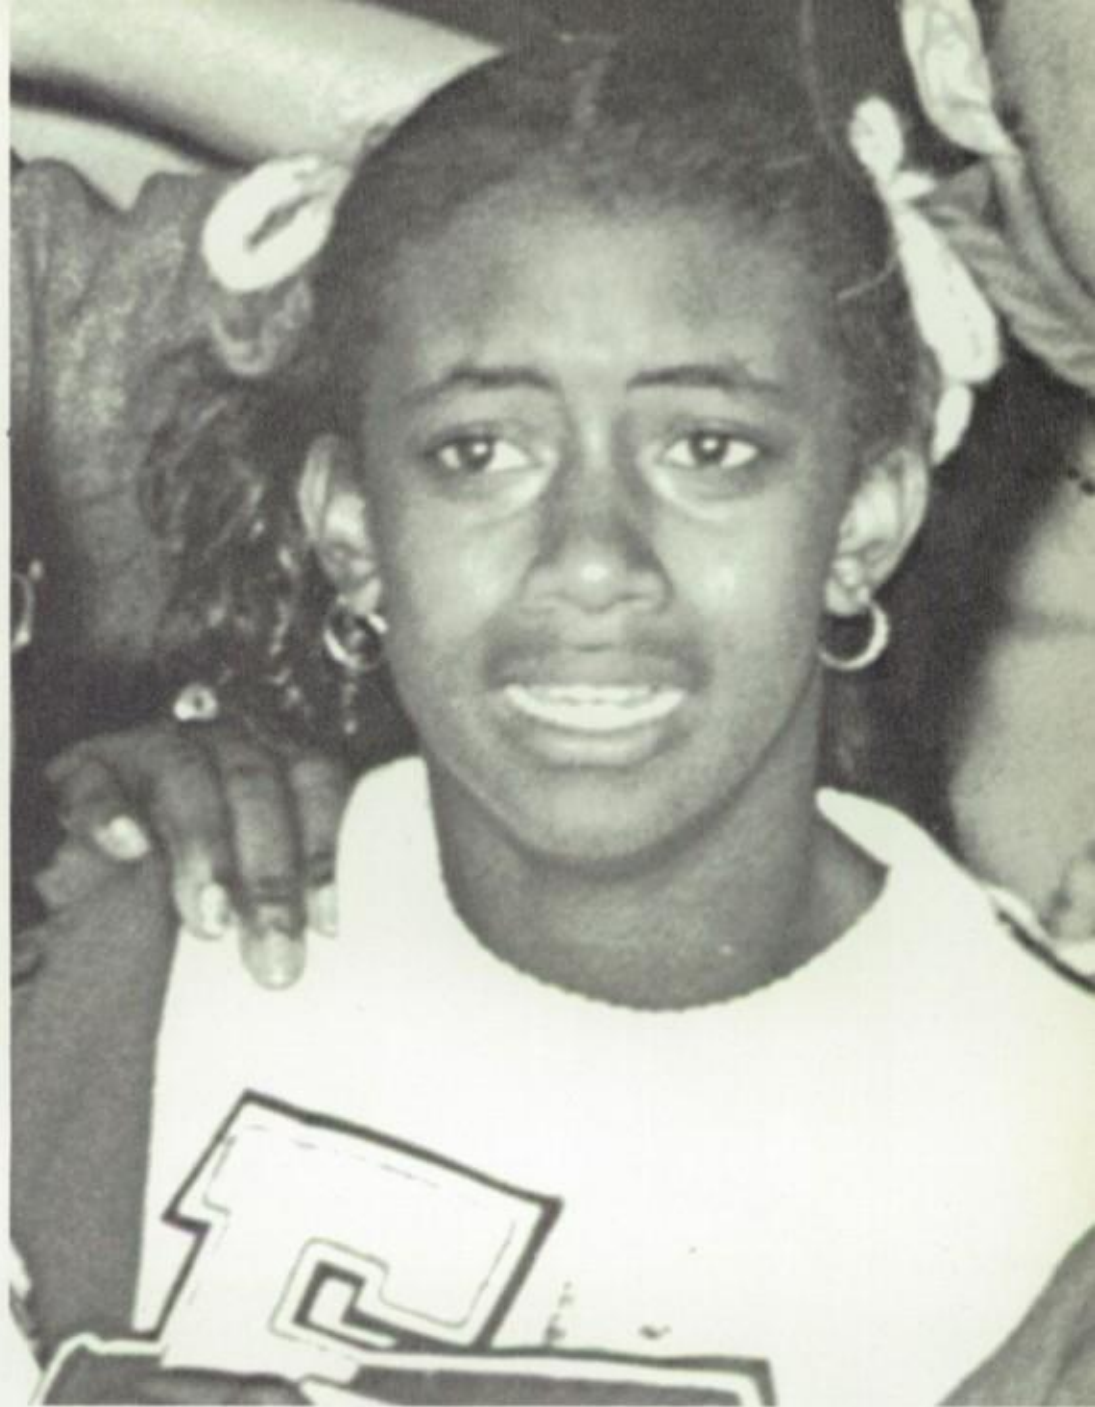

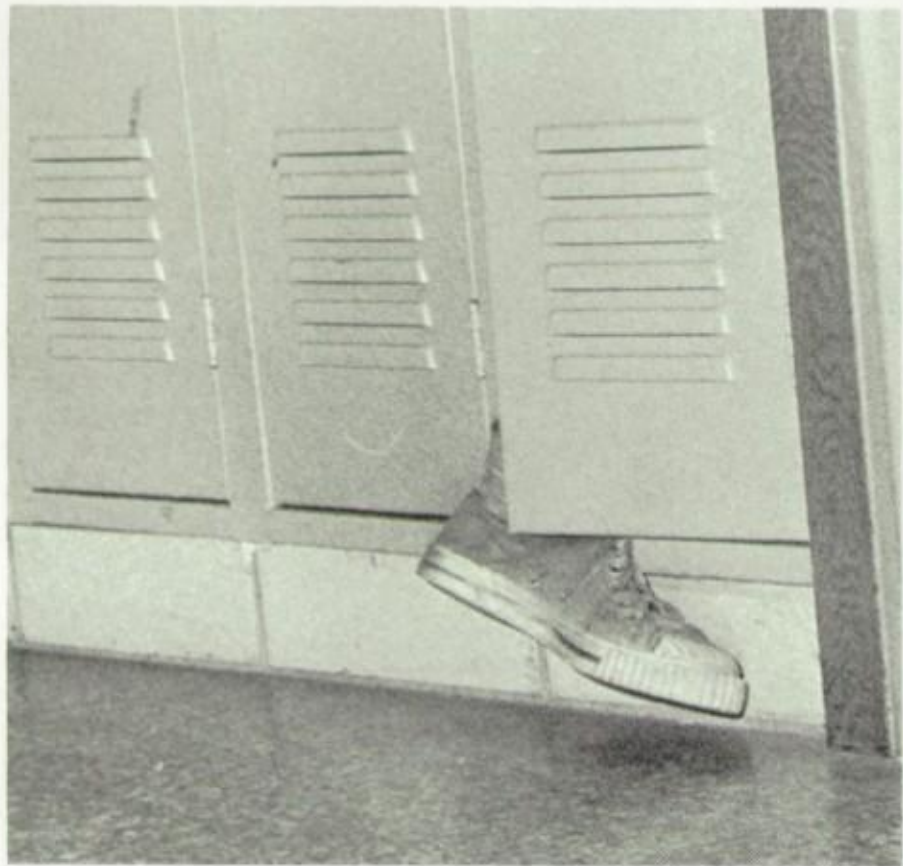

to love . . . to hate . . .

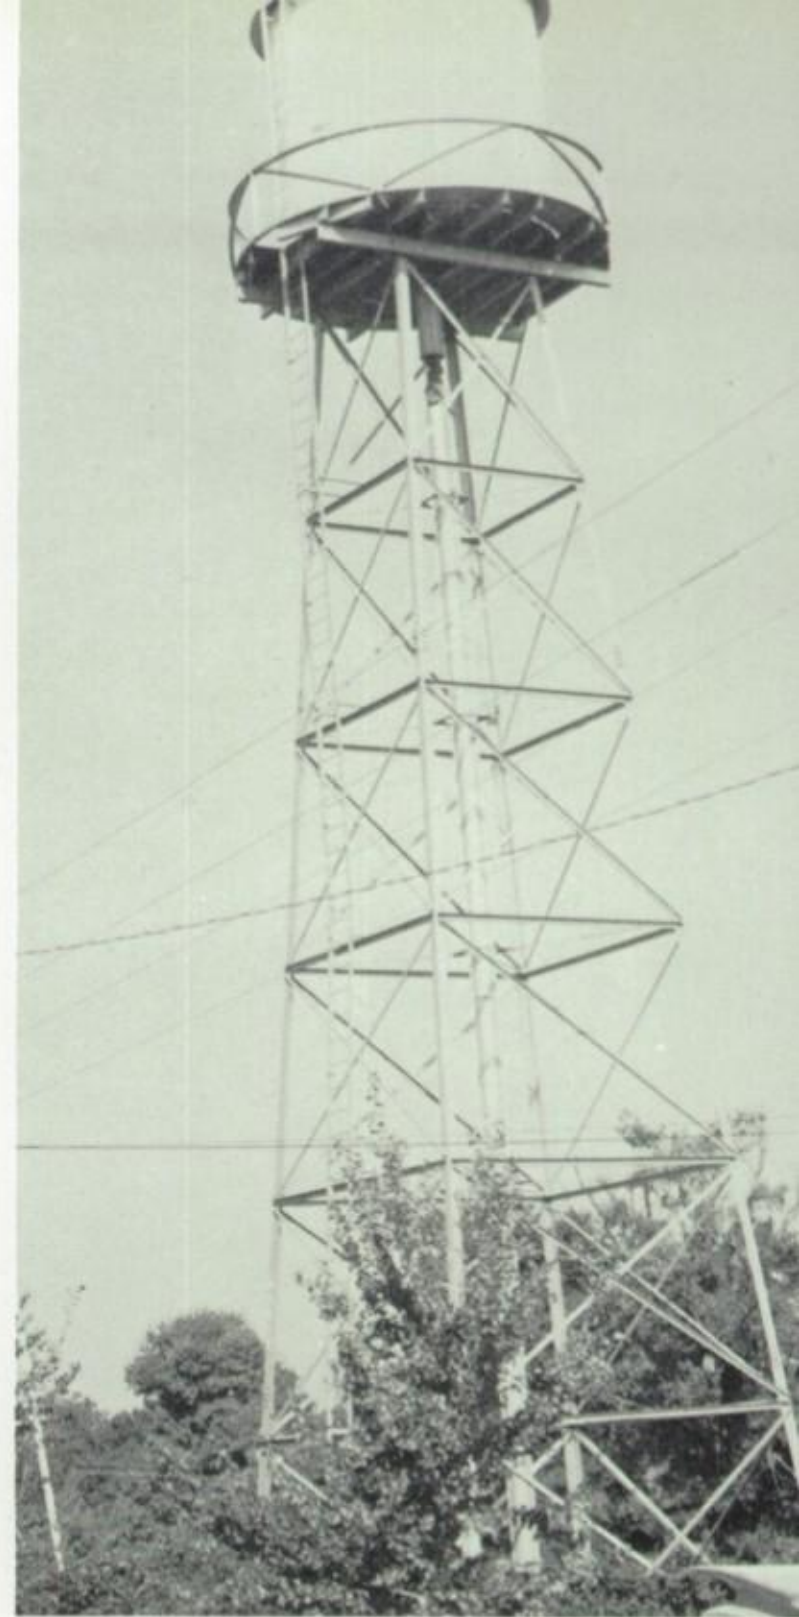

Happiness is a club picnic in spring. One student gets away from it all in his locker. Tears fall when the Mustangs are down. All laugh at Tommy and Tim's commercial. Lunch brings a welcome break in the school routine. Fans hate refs at football games. Romance blooms during the Age of Aquarius. Seniors both love and hate graduation evening.

to laugh . . . to cry . . .

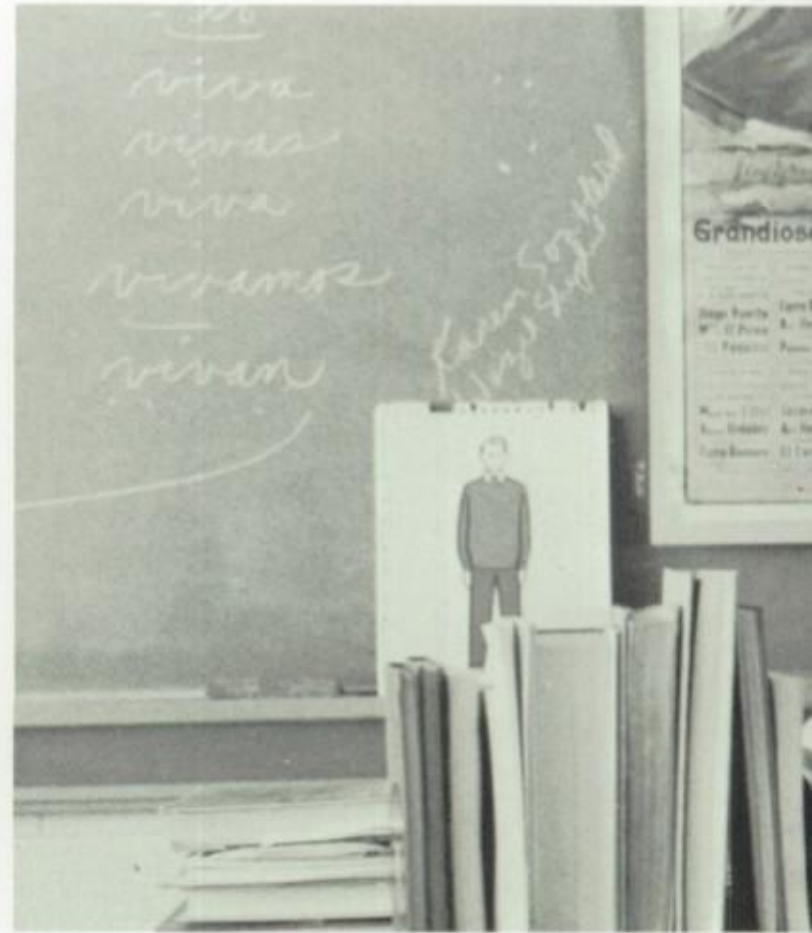

and suddenly . . . one day, a time to go.

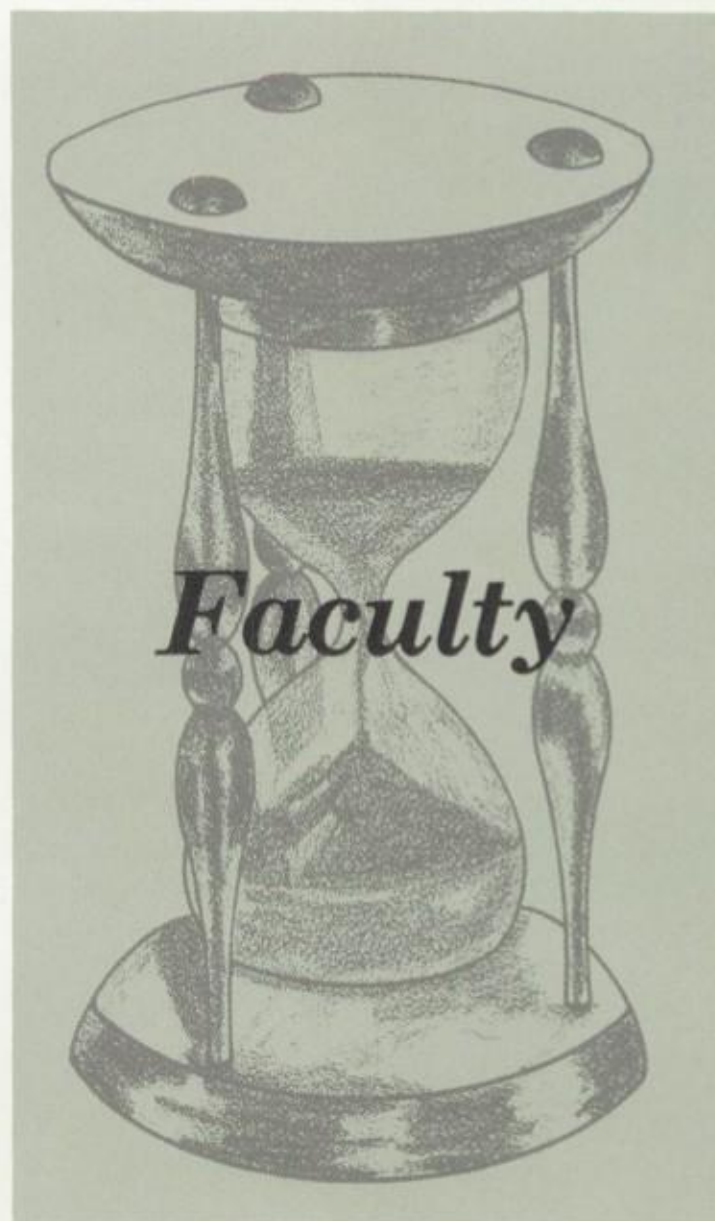

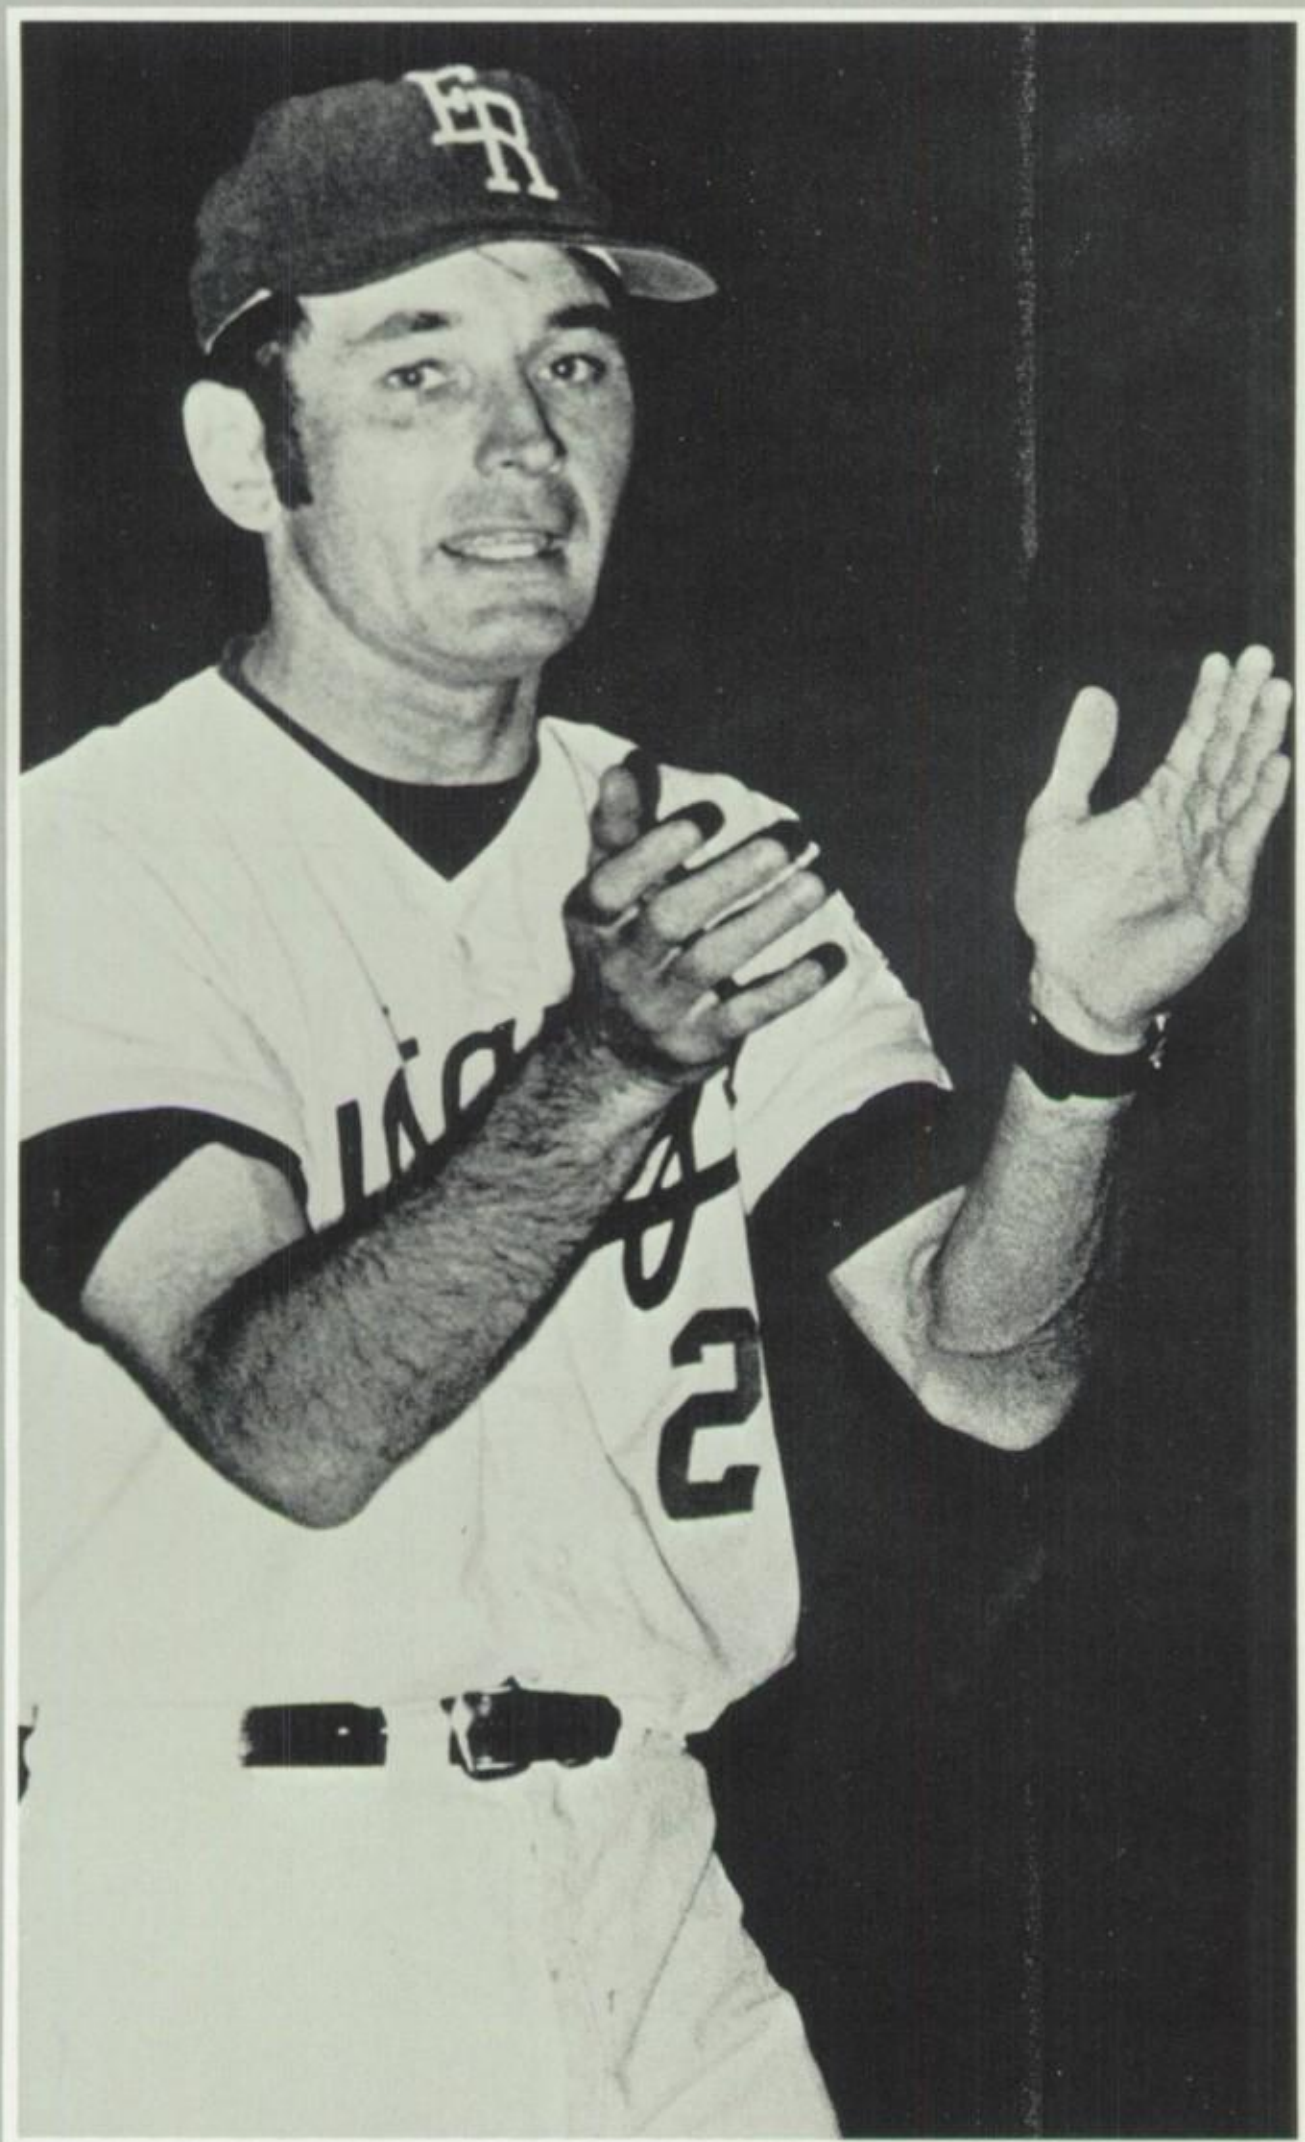

After a long winter, spring is heralded by blossoming crab apple trees on campus. Awaiting a new paint job by Seniors '72, the lonely water tower keeps vigil. The last bell is a signal for a Mustang stampede to buses and cars. Yearbooks arrive in the spring. Throughout the year, the activity bus has served Mustangs on the go. Awards assembly closes with the presentation of baseball trophies. Eastonians are all watch-watchers in the neighborhood of three o'clock . . . not just the last day of school . . .

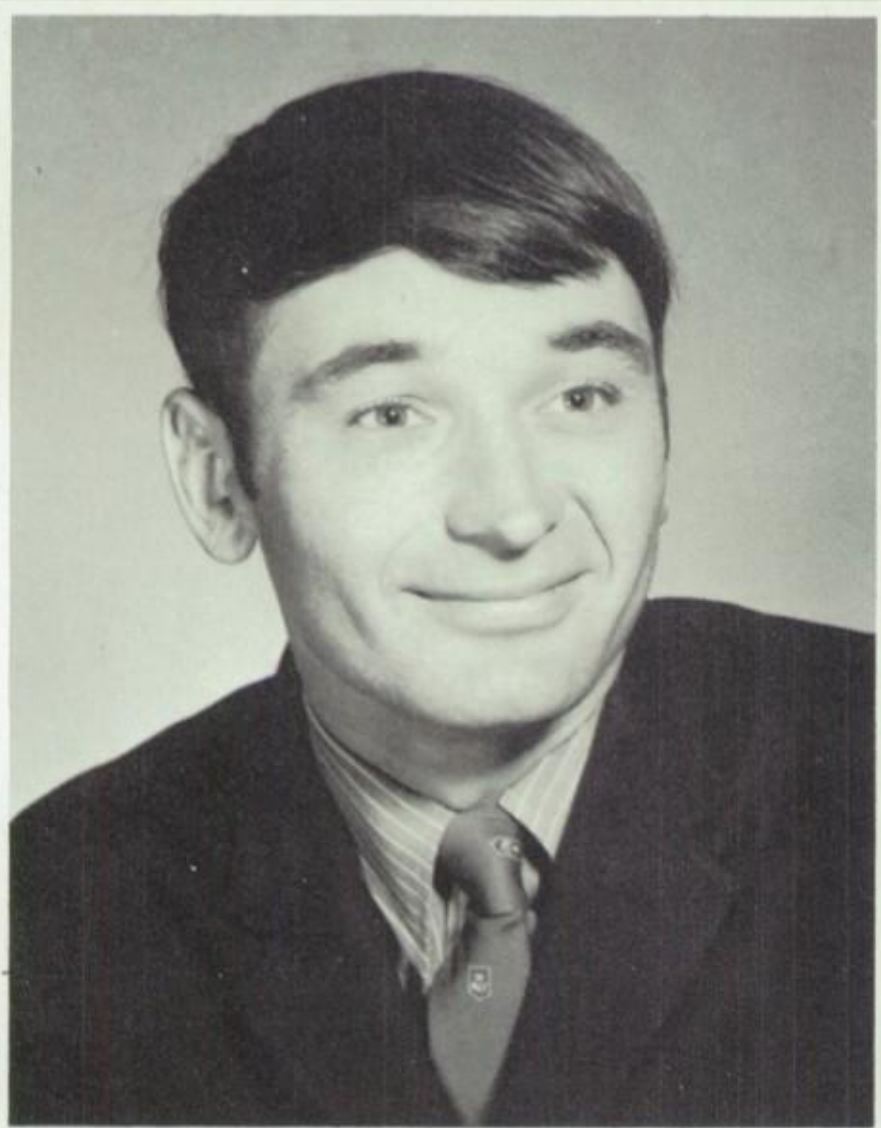

And suddenly . . . one day, Seniors dress for graduation and it is finally time to go . . . to receive diplomas, to say goodbye, to leave, no longer students but alumni with only memories tying them to East.

Mr. Harbinson wins Approval of Seniors

We, the Senior Class of 1971, proudly dedicate the twelfth volume of the EASTONIAN to Mr. Phillip Carrol Harbinson — coach, teacher, and friend.

As Driver Education instructor, head baseball coach, and football backfield coach, Mr. Harbinson contributes much to all aspects of school life. He has guided the Mustang baseball team to two WNCCHSAA championships, and his silver dune buggy is a familiar sight at many school activities. He dubs Mrs. Pharr's room the "Hornet Nest" in a typical display of wit and humor.

A graduate of Taylorsville High School, he attended Lenoir Rhyne College and played both baseball and football. To the delight of all Eastonians, he came to East Rowan in 1967 and we love him.

BELOW, "Teddy Bear" Harbinson poses in his fun-car and prays for a safe trip with a sophomore driver.

Mr. Lyerly's trusty telephone aids in soothing angered or anguished parents.

East Administrators oil the wheels of progress

Mr. Corriher supervises the annual autumn candy sale by which clubs raise money for projects and state or national dues.

Mrs. Mary Beaver works toward the completion of her never-ending secretarial and bookkeeping tasks. Her assistant, Mrs. Pauline Lyerly, an invaluable asset to the staff, spends half a day at East.

As East Rowan's head administrator, Mr. Thomas Joe Lyerly faces the gigantic task of supervising his 43 faculty members and over 860 students. He is now completing his sixth year as principal — exactly half of East's twelve year history.

Mr. Everette Corriher joins Mr. Lyerly as assistant principal and copes with such problems as discipline, transportation, and textbook distribution. Mrs. Mary Beaver and her assistant, Mrs. Pauline Lyerly, capably keep East's many accounts balanced.

Faculty endeavors to arouse curiosity

Mrs. Pat Barrow uses her own brand of "sign language" to emphasize a point to her chemistry students.

Mr. Jim Barringer, wrestling and golf coach, lectures to his U.S. History class.

Mrs. Ruth Bernhardt, biology teacher, sterilizes inoculating loops for her sophomores who are studying bacteriology.

Mrs. Tommie Blackmon pauses for a joke while grading her English III papers.

Faculty nominates

Mrs. Marquerite Bost cheerfully grades a test on JULIUS CAESAR during one of her free moments.

Mrs. Vivian Boyd types a county report on the careers which interest her Office Prep students.

Coach W. A. Cline jokes with an advanced P.E. member during a "weight-lifting day" at East.

Integrated and unified, East's faculty determines to keep quality of education high, interest in activities growing, and enthusiasm for athletics healthy. The curriculum presents all students opportunities to prepare for specific objectives. In the classrooms, teachers attempt to teach students, not classes, and to guide students to appreciate and understand democratic living.

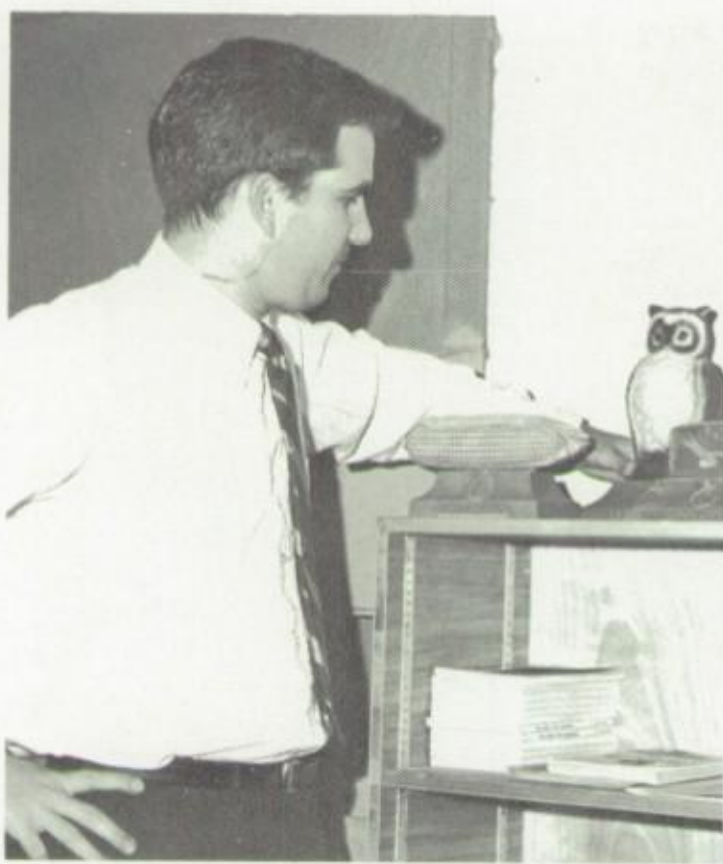

Madame Lillie Davis, French teacher, takes notes as students recite a dialogue.

Coach Cline for Teacher of the Year

Mrs. Sarah Dooley patiently explains a problem to an Algebra II student. Mr. Malcolm Dunkley puts away equipment after an FFA meeting.

Mrs. Dorothy Felts finds FHA meetings enjoyable. Mrs. Ruth Gullledge, English IV teacher, draws an EASTONIAN layout.

Commercial teacher, Mrs. Katie Duncan, loves teaching at East. Mr. Lawrence Eller points to the screen while using the opaque projector.

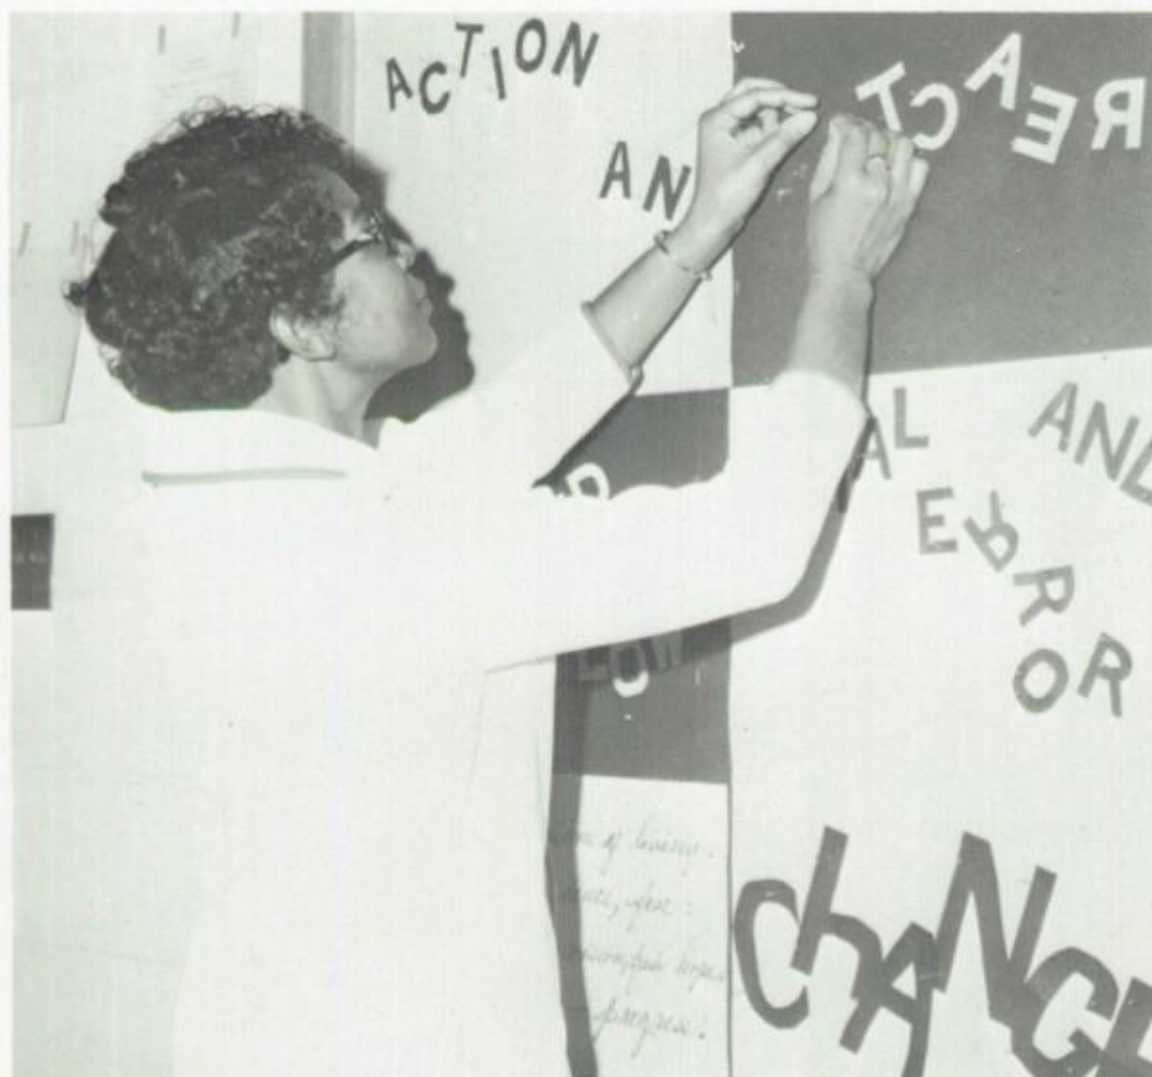

Extracurricular duties keep the Faculty busy

Driver Education teacher, Mr. Phil Harbinson, and student pose for the photographer before roadwork begins. Mrs. Hazel Hancock, geometry and Algebra II teacher, creates a challenging bulletin board.

Mrs. Rebecca Hartley helps Pam Hinson with her research. Miss Sandra Harvell grades a few English II papers.

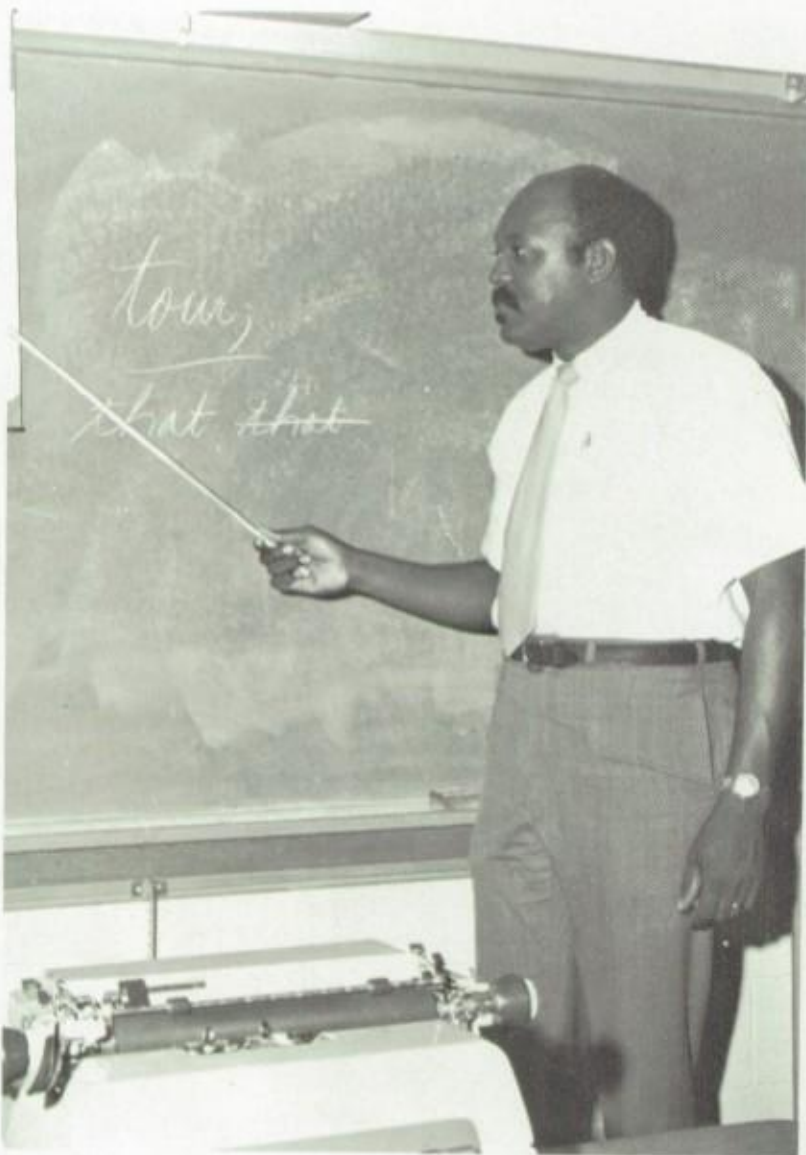

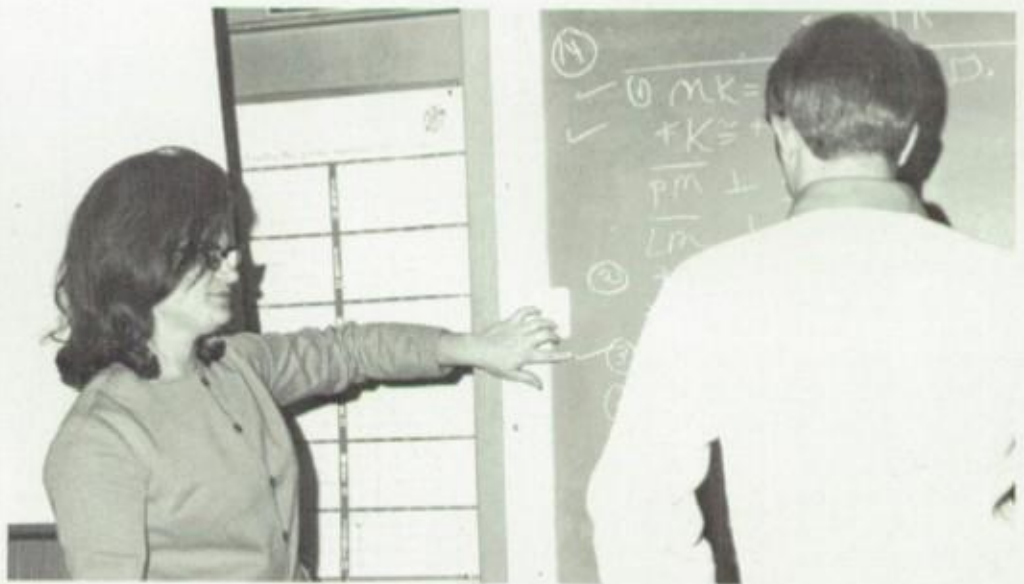

Mrs. Ernestine Ingram demonstrates the correct usage of personal pronouns.

Mr. Daniel Hogue, D. E. teacher, shows Carmelita Poole how to complete a register.

Mr. William Kennedy, Consumer Math and business teacher, helps a Typing I student.

Explanation at the blackboard is an important part of Mrs. Prisilla Hensley's day in geometry. Mrs. Melda Killion helps Jane Cline with her "mini" research paper in English IV.

Faculty guides students toward success

Mrs. Rebecca Lineberger enjoys sharing the enthusiasm of her Spanish III students. Mrs. Jean McCombs, commercial teacher, finds time to help EASTONIAN staff.

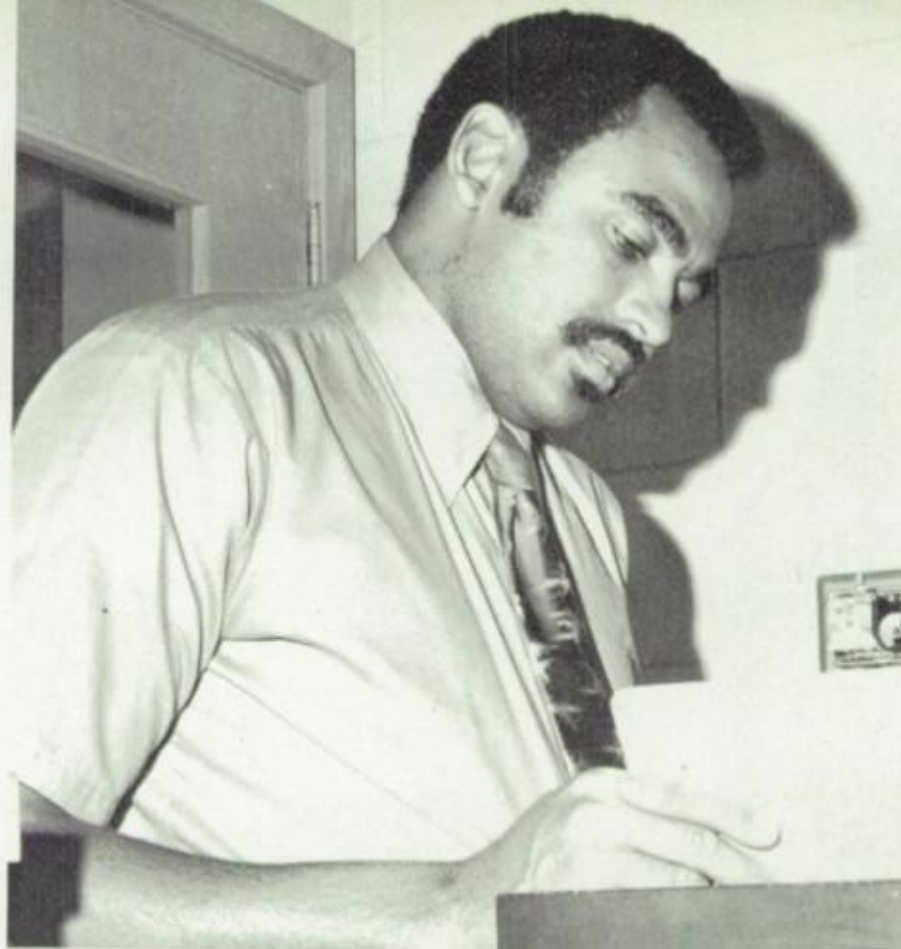

Mrs. Josephine McCombs compares stenography pads for her short hand class. Mrs. Evelyn Morgan, counselor, straightens the bookcase.

Head counselor Mrs. Ruth Miller helps Wayne Shaver plan his course of study for his senior year.

Mr. Aaron Neely, social studies teacher, coach, and counselor, checks student folders for health records.

Mrs. Vernelle Palmer, head librarian, orders new and interesting books. Mrs. Judy Pharr laughs at a comment made by one of her Family Living boys.

Keeping student bookcards in order is a task for Mrs. Marilyn Fisher, library assistant. Mr. Carl Rudisill demonstrates dissecting procedures in general biology.

Students and teachers share ideas

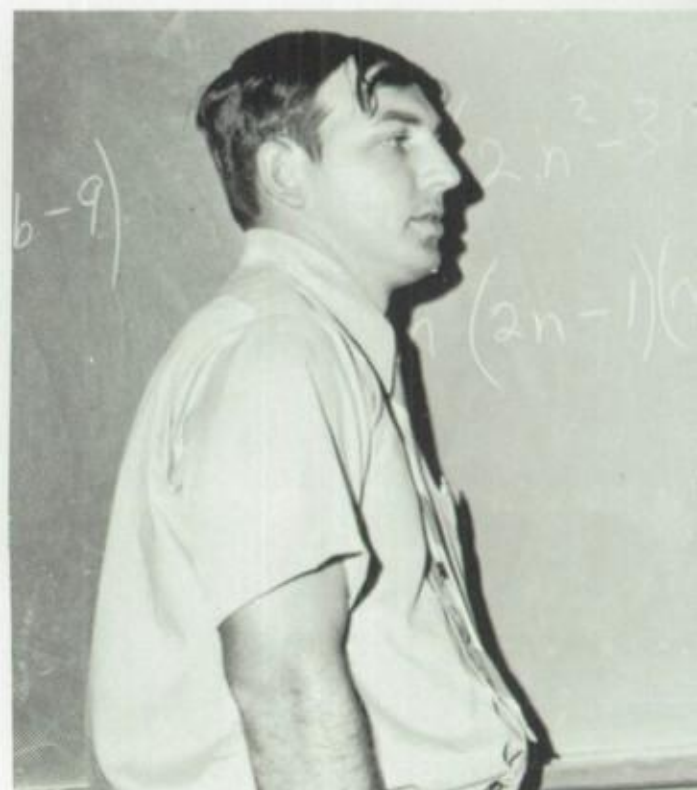

Mr. Jerry Peck, biology and chemistry teacher, attempts to clarify a baffling Chem Study problem for senior Al Lentz.

Mr. John Sigmon lends a helping hand to Steve Hollifield in shop at Erwin.

Mrs. Florence Peck laughs at a Brad Buie comment in trigonometry. Quadratic equations are solved by Mr. Gilbert Sprinkle in Algebra II.

Mr. Scott Sherrill, JV football and track coach, relaxes to explain his political philosophy to a U.S. History class.

Languages, ancient and modern are Mrs. Thayer Puckett's realm.

Mr. Wayne Trexler, Bible teacher, helps Kenny Black select a historical novel with a biblical setting.

Mr. Matt Thompson explains an intricate blueprint in Mechanical Drawing I.

Test answers in U.S. history tickle Mr. Jesse Watson who also coaches girls' basketball. Mr. Gilbert Winborne orders new equipment for his agriculture courses.

Mr. Steve Van Pelt, band and chorus director, prepares a half-time marching routine.

Besides the never-ending tasks associated with teaching — planning lessons, grading papers, computing grades, making bulletin boards, and attending meetings — East's faculty manages to conserve enough energy to sponsor clubs and coach sports. They even participate in one sport — the faculty-alumni basketball game in the spring. Perhaps to them, "a time for us" means arranging a little time for themselves.

Mrs. Geneva Kirk is East's cafeteria manager.

Cafeteria Staff supplies valuable service for East

Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Fisher, Mr. Rudisill, and his student teacher Mr. Burkhard enjoy their lunch, spiced with conversation in the cafeteria.

Mr. Corriher uses the teachers' privilege of getting his plate first.

Custodians are a friendly, helpful team

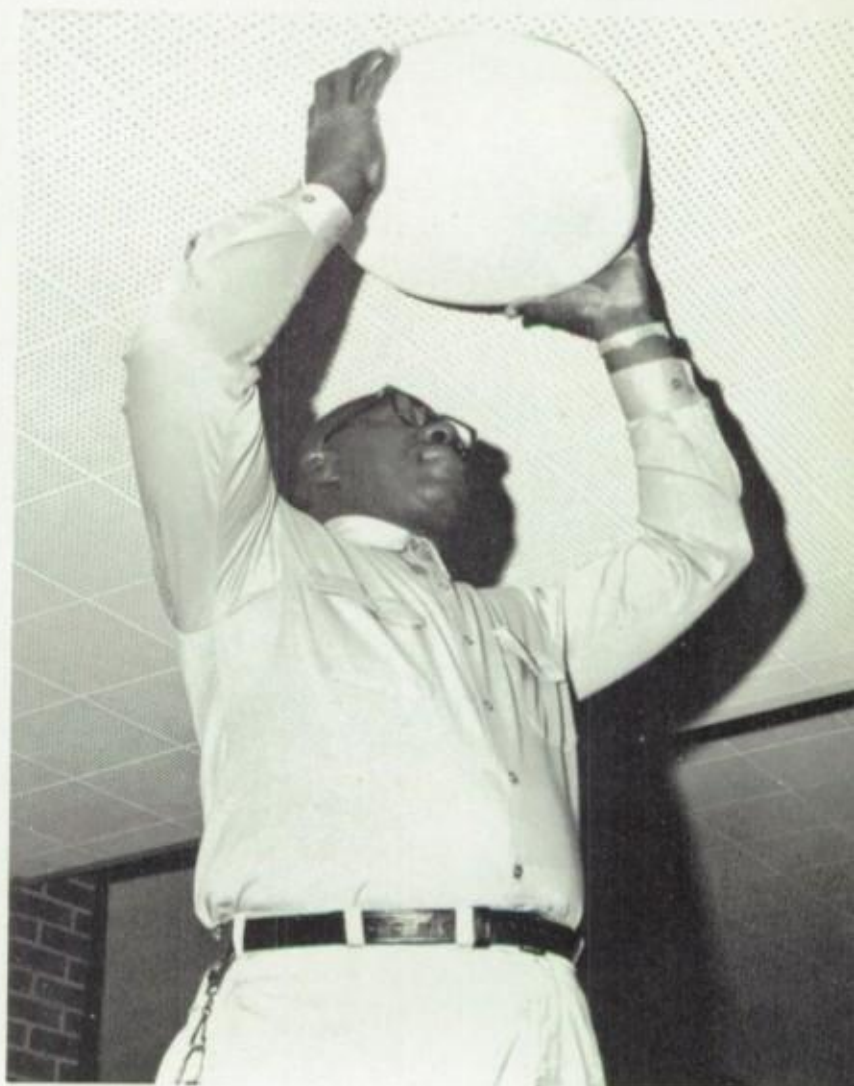

New at East is Mr. E. L. Lomax. Besides the never-ending task of "running the halls," he trims shrubbery, mows grass, and sweeps.

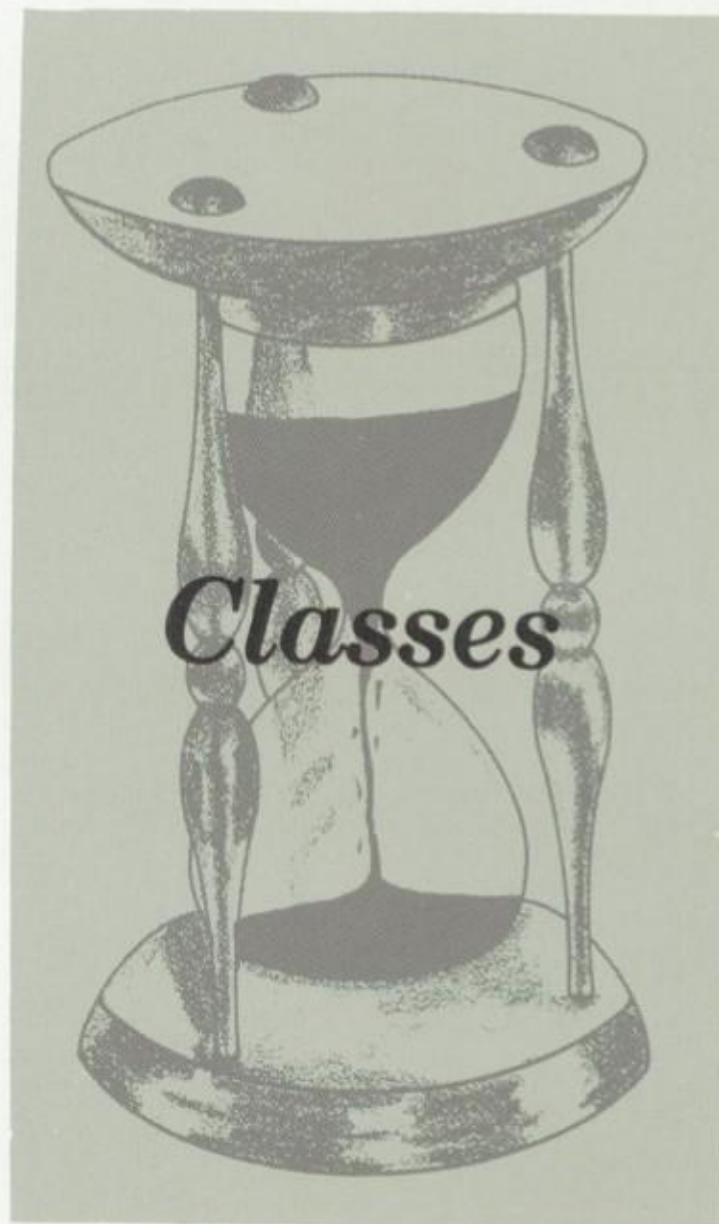

Mr. Curtis Glaspy heads the custodial staff. He has served East well for nine years. Students and teachers all call him Curtis because he is so familiar and well-liked.

Mrs. Annie Glaspy works with her husband at East. Together, they and Mr. Lomax perform housekeeping duties that provide cleanliness.

Soph scholars spend hours in the library writing research papers and just reading for fun.

Gina Poole, sophomore attendant, moves in splendor to her position on the 1970 Homecoming Court.

East Rowan enters

Astrologic symbols, black lights, a canopy of stars — all welcome the "Age of Aquarius" to East Rowan as juniors present the 1970 prom. A frenzied "class of '71" has transformed a gym into a wonderland.

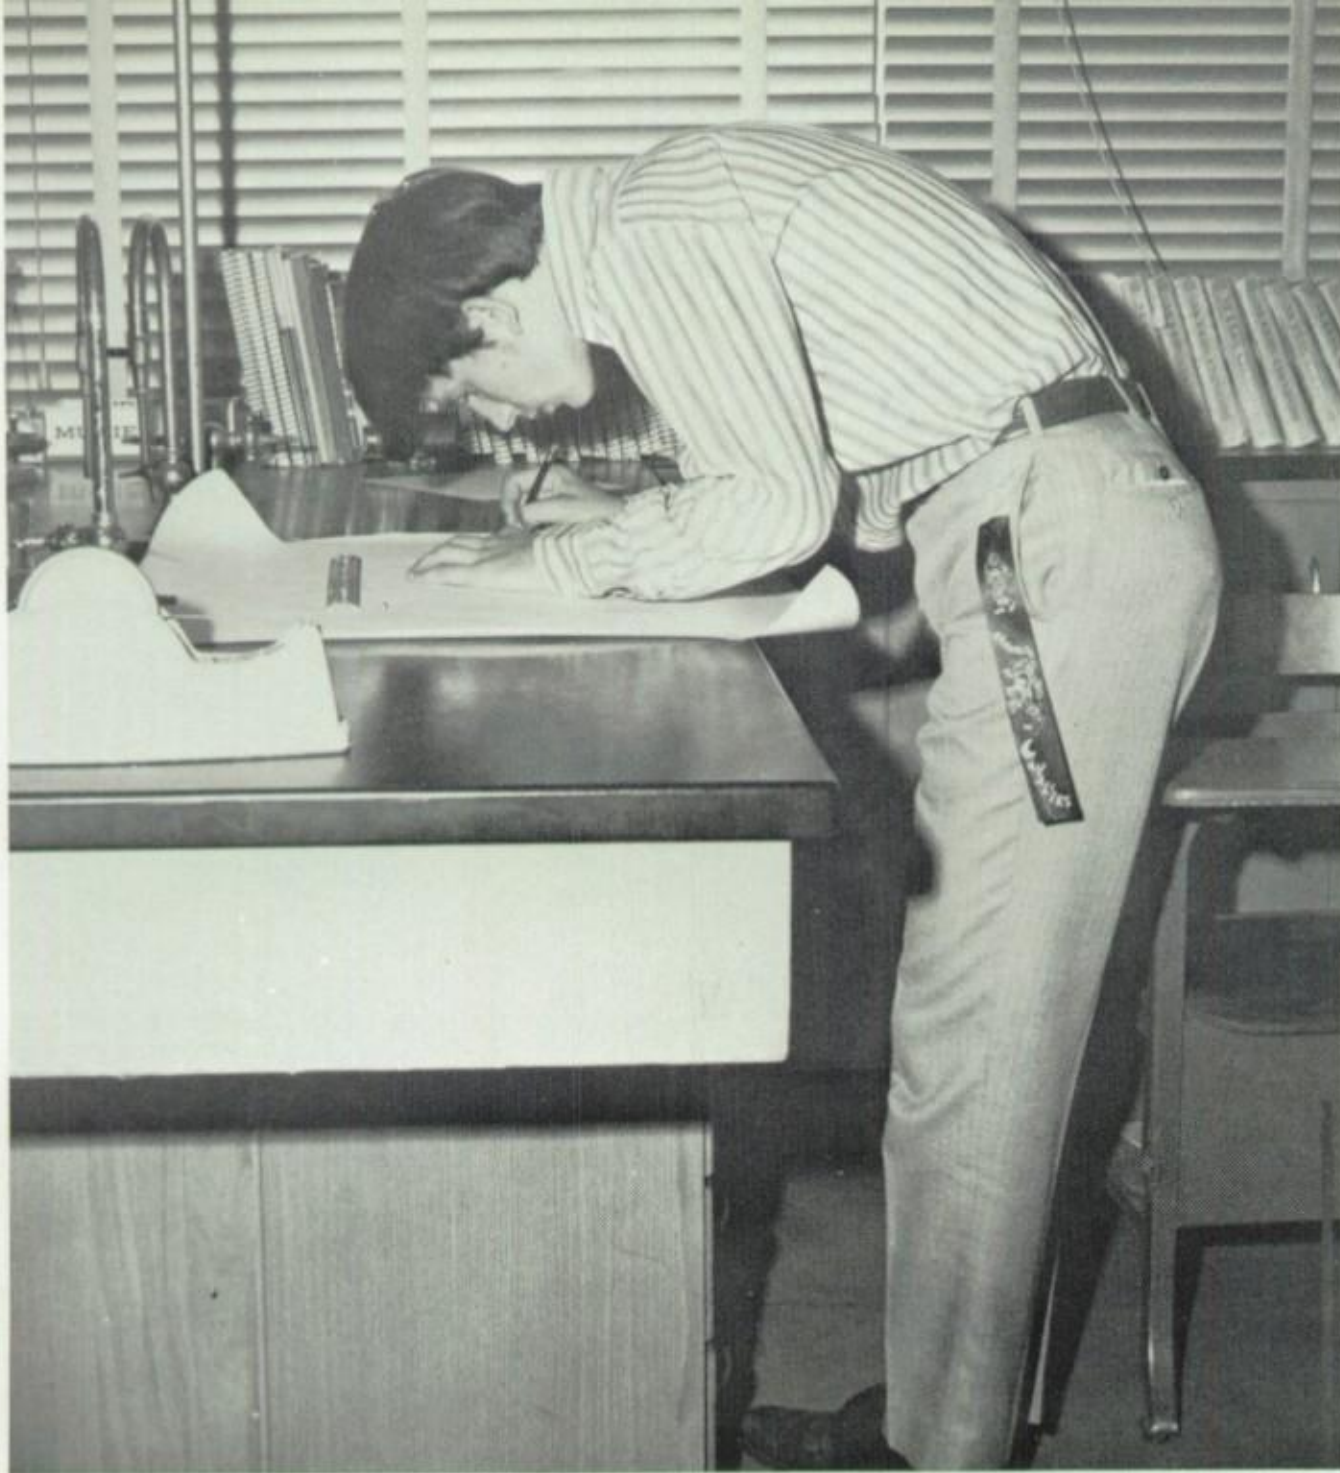

Enchanted students and faculty members dance to the beat of the Sandelles, or just sit and enjoy the sights and sounds. Highlighting the evening is the crowning of Queen Pat Yelton and King Dan Lesley. As the Grand March proceeds, Connie Fesperman and her escort, Al Lentz, pay homage.

Pete Clark and Vickie McCorkle sing, and sophomores entertain to complete the memory of this never to be forgotten night.

In memory of Nancy Marlene Trexler

There will always be an empty place at East, the place once occupied by Nancy Marlene Trexler. An early morning automobile accident on November 4, 1970, proved fatal to Nancy.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Max Trexler of Route 1, Rockwell. Nancy was active in National Honor Society, FBLA, Tri-

Hi-Y, Public Speaking Club, and she served Eastonians as a guidance assistant. A member of St. James Lutheran Church, she was active in the Luther League.

Though no longer with us at East, she left a little of herself with each of us who knew her.

*Why is it that the fairest perish first, God?
Why are the sweet ones called from us so soon?*

Good-bye is hard when you have seen her smile and say hello across a crowded hall.

*Why must there be good-byes, God?
Why did Nancy die, God?
Why are there no answers, God,
that we can understand? . . . by Glenda Lingle*

Sharon and Johnny named Class Favorites

Sharon Honeycutt and Johnny Yarbrough, CLASS FAVORITES, picnic in the park. Sharon captures hearts because she is so outstanding yet so modest; Johnny, because he's great but never takes any credit for himself.

Faculty chooses Who's Who Seniors

Ken Morgan and Libby Wiles, MOST INTELLECTUAL seniors, enjoy their trip to the park via a dune buggy.

C. M. Yates and Kay Johnson, MOST ATHLETIC, would play a game of tennis if they could borrow another racket.

Doris Krider, Mike Bernhardt, Jeff Lingle, and Darrell Deal — WHO'S WHO IN LEADERSHIP — pause to rest after walking up from the playground to the picnic area.

Larry Moose and Connie Fesperman, MOST SCHOOL SPIRITED, find a "Mustang" everywhere they go. Connie also made WHO'S WHO IN LEADERSHIP.

Jeff Lingle and Jan Kirchin, MOST DEPENDABLE, leave the lake to stroll over the bridge and through the leaves.

Clarence Shuford, Elliott Mathis, Kristie Frick, Sally Arey, and Rick Wilson — WHO'S WHO IN CITIZENSHIP — gather around a picnic table.

Superlatives elected by Senior Class

Rick McBride, Toodles Peeler, Dick Eller, Ken Morgan, and Libby Wiles — WHO'S WHO IN ACADEMICS — view the park from their "elevated" position.

Starting their own music festival in the park, Mike Bernhardt and Susan Brown — MOST TALENTED — are interrupted by man's best friend.

Phil Pless, WHO'S WHO IN CITIZENSHIP, and Jane Cline, Kay Roberts, Nan Ludwig, Leedora Baker, Randy Elum, and Debbie Misenheimer — WHO'S WHO IN SERVICE — relax by a tree.

Superlatives + Who's Who = Outstanding

Good students, good leaders, good sports — Sharon Honeycutt and Eddie Price are voted BEST-ALL-ROUND.

Toodles Peeler and Darrell Deal, MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED, prove they can climb high at the park.

Jerrell Caskey, Glenda Lingle, Susan Brown, Janice Jones, and Jan Kirchin — WHO'S WHO IN TALENT — gather by the see saws during their afternoon in the park.

Seniors of '71

Kay Roberts and Brad Buie — WITTIEST — always keep things going and people in stitches.

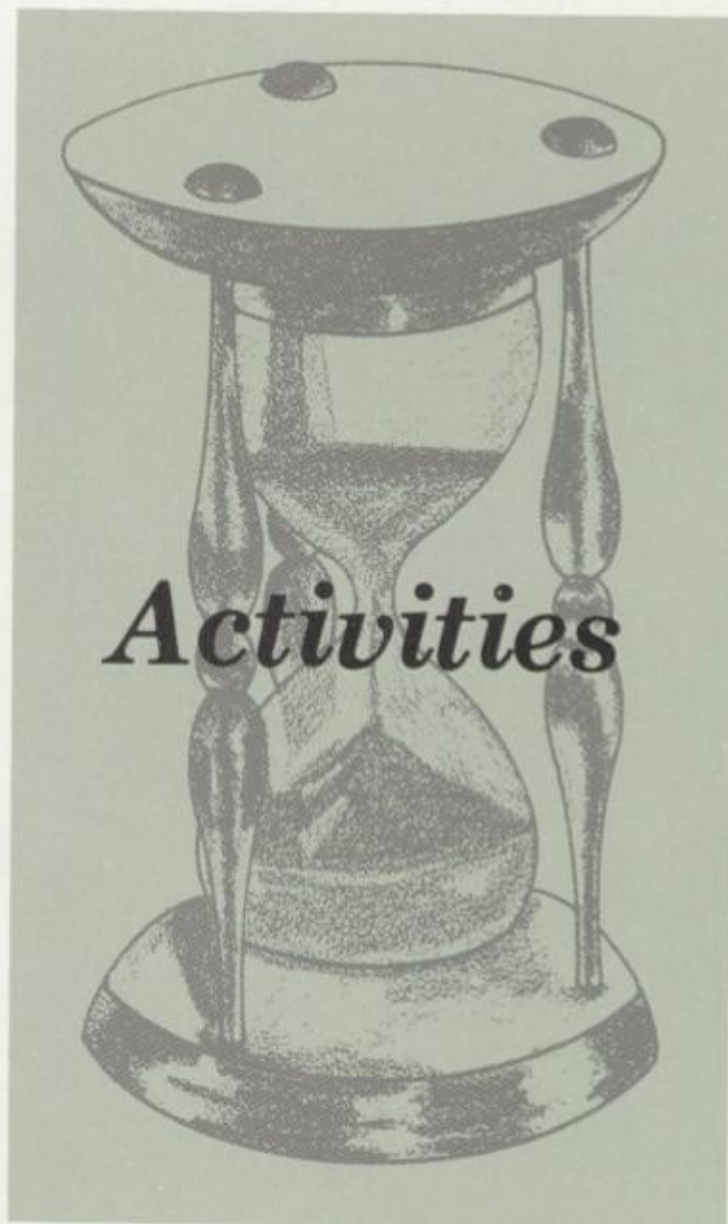

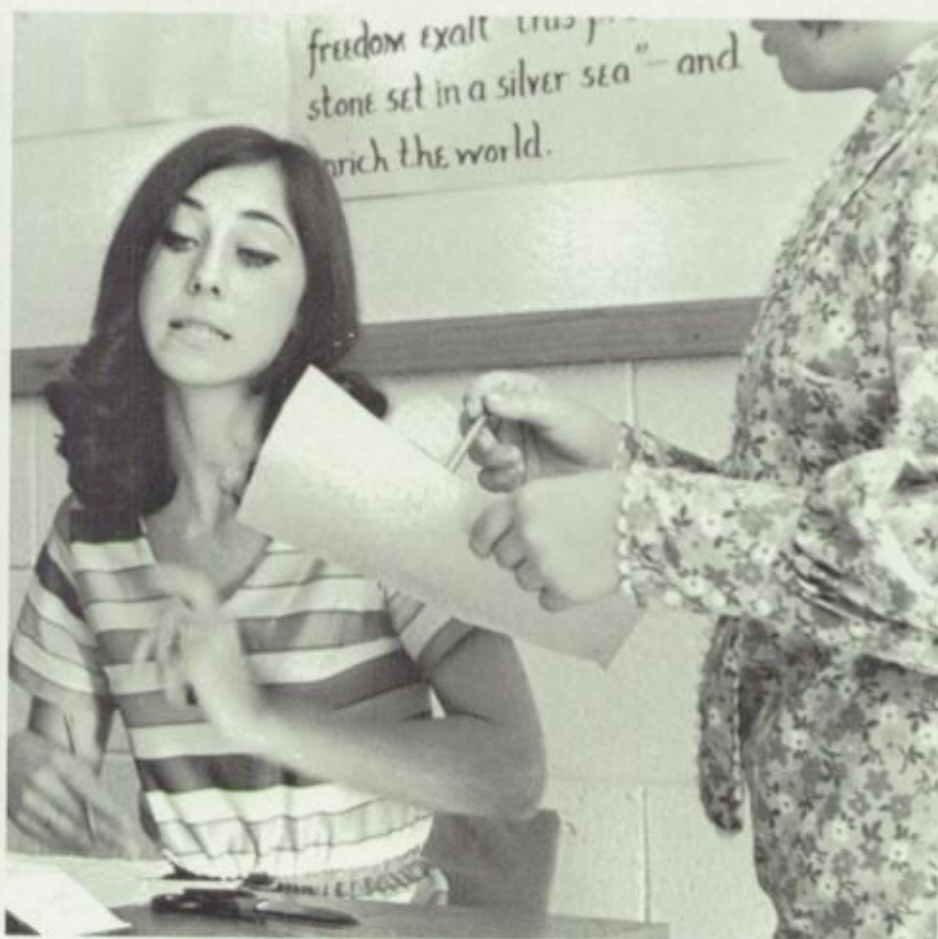

LaVaughn Doyle and Rick McBride are considered by their classmates to be the MOST ATTRACTIVE.

Debbie Misenheimer and Al Lentz, noted for their amiability — even with turtles — are FRIENDLIEST.

East's WHO'S WHO IN ATHLETICS, Johnny Yarbrough, Kay Johnson, C. M. Yates, Robert Steele, and Frankie Morrow, pose with the school emblem — a Mustang.

Staff has seniors' names

Seventeen junior and senior students under the leadership of Co-Editors Libby Wiles and Gennene Sifford and the guidance of Mrs. Ruth Gullede, sponsor, comprise the 1971 Annual Staff. Numerous afternoons, Saturdays, and holidays . . . through snow, sleet, rain, and many mistakes, the staff labors diligently to meet four deadlines. As time begins to run out, the honor of being on the annual staff also becomes a responsibility.

Choosing the color of the annual, voting on the dedication, counting superlative votes, and keeping it all a secret are only some of the required tasks. Adding to the list of senior privileges, the staff arranges for seniors' annuals to be personalized with their names.

Rounding up Mustang

Cathy Bost waits for the mimeograph machine to run off 900 copies of page 3 for the MUSTANG ROUND-UP.

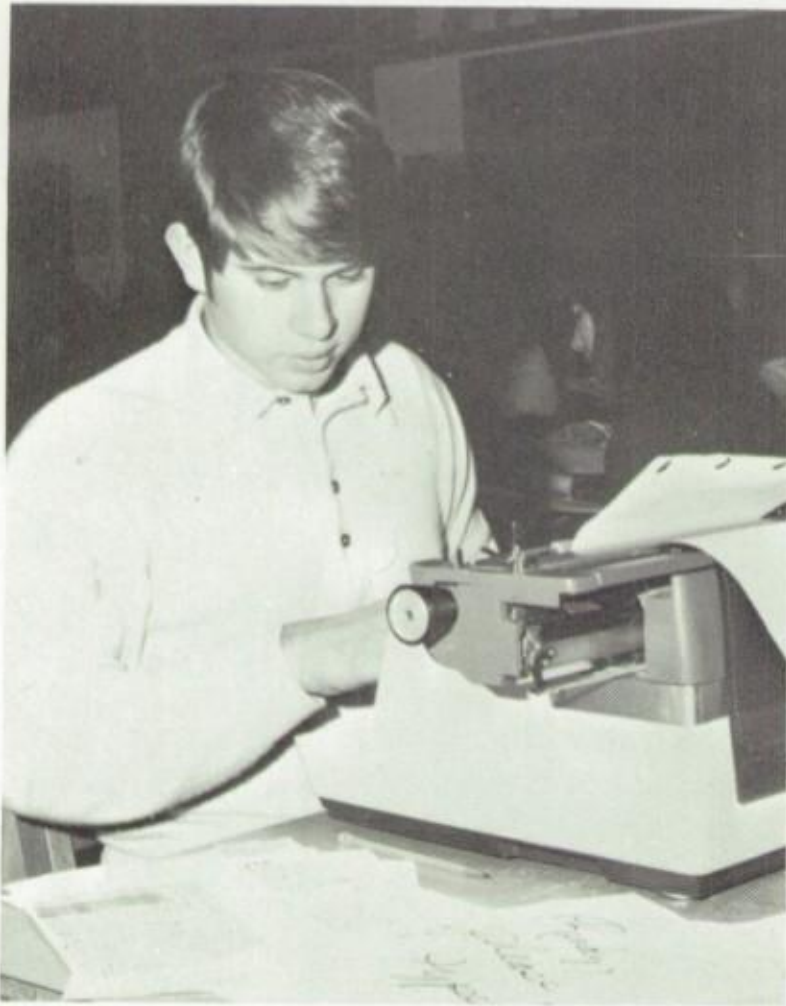

The Mustang Round-Up Staff works strenuously to publish a weekly newspaper. Sponsored by Mrs. Ruth Gullledge and headed by co-editors Nan Ludwig and Toodles Peeler, the staff attempts to cover all the news at East. The student body contributes quarters early in the year for part of the cost of publication. The newspaper staff publishes a total of 36 editions, one for each week of the school year. Reporting, proof reading, typing layouts, and much dedication and hard work are all a part of the weekly routine of the twenty-five junior and senior staffers.

FFA community

FFA sponsor Mr. Winborne confers with the other agriculture teachers, Mr. Eller and Mr. Dunkley.

The FFA Chapter at East Rowan keeps busy all year through Federation Contests and monthly club meetings. Some projects are the leadership training school, land judging, dairy and livestock judging, and public speaking. Ninth grade members from Erwin participate in the tool identification contest. The yearly schedule is also filled with building exhibits for the Rowan County Fair, taking part in the National FFA Week, the school candy sale, and State FFA Convention and camps. Experience gained aid in earning degrees. In the spring parents attend a social at which awards are given. The community project for the year centers on pollution.

An East Rowan representative competes against other FFA chapters in the Federation soil judging contest.

Erwin boys come to East Rowan each day for their Agriculture I classes. These students are members of the Mustang Future Farmers of America Chapter along with the senior high men attending the monthly chapter meetings.

Betty Carscaddon presides over the monthly meetings of Health Careers.

Health Careers opens

Being of service is the ambition of Health Career members. To be eligible for membership, one must be considering a career in practical or registered nursing, laboratory assistants, dental assistants and hygienists, or X-ray technicians. Planning and carrying out projects occupy a good deal of club members' time. Their projects include sending Christmas cards along with chewing gum to servicemen, octopi presented to Rowan Memorial Hospital as gifts for bed patients, caring for the Health Room, and giving a party for a local rest home.

Year of service & fun for Senior Tri-Hi-Y

The Senior Tri-Hi-Y seeks to maintain high standards of Christian character in all aspects of school and community life. Club members collect stamps for the Wycliff Bible Translators, sponsor bake sales, attend the country-wide officers meetings, sell donuts for YMCA World Service, and participate in an eight-weeks speed reading course at the "Y". An important activity during the winter months is playing in the Tri-Hi-Y basketball league. Officers Glenda Lingle, Janie Yost, Janice Jones, Nina Graham, Libby Wiles, Joyce Arthurs, Doris Krider, and Pam Roseman, and advisor Mrs. Flo Peck lead the club. 20	North Mecklenburg	13
21	North Stanley	0
34	North Iredell	0
	PLAYOFFS
12	North Rowan	7
19	Boyden	40

Mustangs continue their domination of the North Piedmont Conference as they capture their third straight championship. Led by quarterback C. M. Yates and split-end Johnny Yarbrough, the Mustangs compile a 10-1-1 record. The only regular season setback is a 22-22 deadlock with North Rowan which is avenged by a 12-7 victory over the Cavaliers for the conference playoff championship. Each is denied an appearance in the WNCHSAA title game by a loss to Boyden.

Mustangs end season 10-1-1

Split-end Johnny Yarbrough makes one of his many unbelievable catches, between two North Rowan defenders in the regular season game.

Quarterback C. M. Yates looks for a receiver before turning the ball loose as a West Rowan defender closes in on him.

Fullback David Cecil brushes off a would-be tackler as he gains yardage.

The Mustang defense charges in trying to block an extra point against North Rowan.

Defensive back Darrell Deal gets set to make one of his three interceptions of Cavalier passes.

Coaches Neely and Sherrill confer with Coach Cline before calling a defensive alignment in the game against Boyden.

East places two in Shrine Bowl

Seniors Johnny Yarbrough and C. M. Yates become the first East players to play in the annual Shrine Bowl game at Charlotte. Johnny is also voted to the Coaches All-America football team sponsored by the Sunkist Company.

Connie is crowned Homecoming Queen

Connie Feserman's warm personality and service to East Rowan has won her the honor of reigning as Homecoming Queen for 1970. Debbie Arey crowns the new queen.

Breathlessly anticipating the crucial moment Connie and her escort, Rick Price, await the announcement.

Wrestlers prepare for conference tournament

With only five seniors on the team and several returning lettermen, the Mustang grapplers blend inexperience with eagerness to field a respectable team. After early season lop-sided losses, the wrestlers reel off mid-season victories in preparation for the conference tournament. Leading scorers for the matmen of Coach Barringer are Pat Ciaramello, Ronnie Gobble, Rochelle Lowe, Owen Madden, Donald and David Lyerly.

After twelve conference games the Mustangs possess a 4-8 record. East basketballers have shown much promise in convincing wins over North Iredell twice, North Stanley, and Mooresville. The team has lost to conference leaders by only a few points in several heart-breakers. Leading the Mustangs in scoring is Johnny Yarbrough with a 15 point-per-game average. Rick McBride, Steve Regan, Al Lentz, David Talbert, Mike Kepley, and Keith Jackson have all had big games for the Mustangs.

Teamwork and determination have brought victories to the young Fillies. Through his guidance, time, and hard work, Coach Jesse Watson displays his concern for the squad. Miss Sandra Harvell puts in her first year as assistant coach. High scorer Pam Hinson ranks first in the county, and Sharon Howell is second. Debbie Misenheimer and Faye Owens lead in defensive rebounds. Debbie Smith is strong under the offensive boards. With new members, Sharon and Debbie Strickland, the team now stands 3-6 in the NPC and 4-7 overall. The Fillies are co-captained by Kay Johnson and Pam Hinson.

Eyes on the basket, junior Phyllis Ketner shoots a foul shot. Substitute guard Donna Anthony fights for a rebound as Faye Owens waits for the outcome.

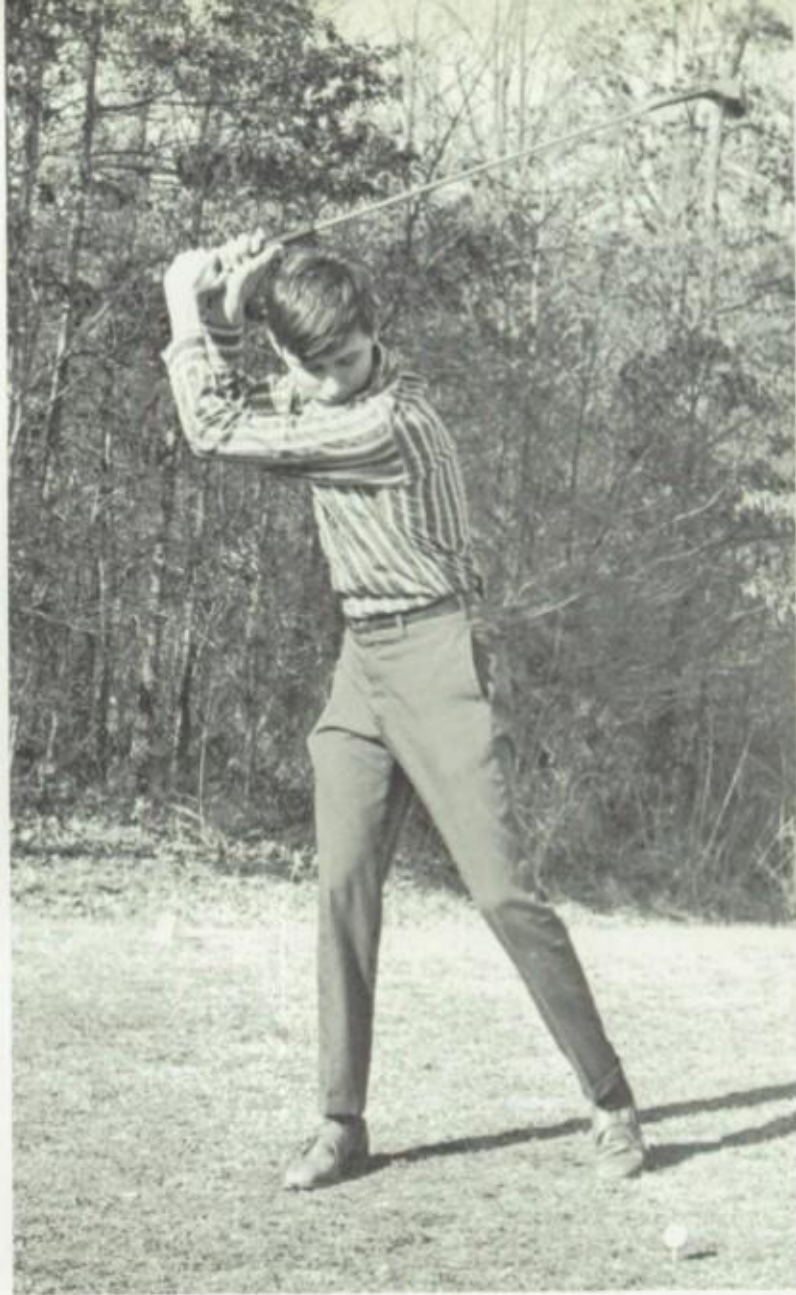

Golfers look forward to spring tournament

The golf team follows the '70 tradition of excellence by experiencing a successful season. In the first outing East takes a first place at South Iredell. On April 23, East finishes only one stroke out of fourth place. In the NPC Golf Tournament, held at the Wilkeshire Golf Course, East places third behind South Iredell and North Rowan. In the conference match, East finishes in fifth place. However, Joe Sides and Steve Allman earn the right to represent East in the WNCHSAA meet.

JV Mustangs win 2nd NPC championship

Co-Captained by John Kendrick and Lloyd Brown, the Baby Mustangs captured their second straight NPC Junior Championship. The Ponies won the first six games before falling to a strong Boyden Jayvee squad. After a loss to South Iredell, the Mustangs ended the season with an exciting victory 20-0 over North Stanly. After the victory three Jayvee players were brought up to the Varsity: John Kendrick, David Ruff and Randy Tesh. With the dedication and ability shown by this team, Mustang fans can anticipate numerous conquests in the future.

Jayvee cagers best in East's history

Led in scoring by Mark Bombardier, Gary Miller and Richard McCoslin, the Jayvee basketball team proves to be very powerful. At press time, the Junior Mustangs have a record of 5-1, losing only to North Rowan by a 2 point margin. Coach Aaron Neely puts many hours into his coaching position. With a bright future ahead of them, the Baby Mustangs take their victories with much pride and admiration, and are working toward their first NPC Championship. Pause for a moment . . . and remember

As seniors pause to reflect on their years at East, memories of activities, classes, friends, and good times come quickly to mind . . . the lab that never would work out right . . . the hectic Friday of the Prom, out of class and almost out of time . . . the party at the end of the year . . . the tension of a close game. Graduation is here, and high school is a time to remember.

Jack,
I guess our year
at East is coming to a close. I hope HSU will be as much fun as East was. I enjoyed getting to know you better these past years. You are a great guy to have for a friend.
Best of luck next year and maybe we'll pass on our way to class.

Jack,
It's really been fun this year in chem. II.
You are a great friend and a real gentleman - and there are too few of those around. Best of luck to a great guy!
Love,
Pam Roseman

Dear Eastonians,

We — the editors, staff, and sponsor of the EASTONIAN — have tried to tell the story of East Rowan for the 1970-71 school year — a time for us. The steady stream of sand through the hourglass has symbolized the rush of school events as the year slips by . . . championships . . . classes . . . holidays . . . clubs . . . elections . . . projects . . . parties . . . prom . . .

But now, the last grains of sand have settled softly in the hourglass, and suddenly graduation is at hand. Juniors and sophomores return in a few short weeks to continue the tradition of East Rowan as Number 1, but seniors leave East's familiar halls for the last time. Armed with never-to-be-forgotten memories, seniors step out to face their future.

At this final parting, we have discovered that twelve years is a long time — until it has passed . . .

Sincerely,

Gennene and Libby

Jack,

It has really been fun knowing you the last few years. Chem II this year and Chem I last year were something else. We had a real swinging class. You are a real great guy with a wonderful personality. I hope you had fun playing in the powerpuff football game. Boy! It was that messy. Also congratulations on all your science awards. Take it easy next year and take care.

a friend always

Physics and Trig have been real winners this year. I hope you have fun at ASA next year. Don't get snowed in. I hope you don't miss Mrs. Barnes next year. You have a good personality. Best luck in the future because you need it. Donald

Jack,
As a member of the "7 awesome foursome", I heartily wish you the best of luck in whatever you do. We've had a lot of good times in Barrow's room - (maybe too many), but at least we finally pulled an "A".
Best of luck & cheer it!
Tim R.

Jack,
It has been fun here at East. Too bad there is only 21 more days. I'm glad you went out for football. I think you helped the team a lot. I enjoyed typing for your science project and learned a lot from it. Stay as sweet as you are and you will always have friends. Good luck to you always. Try to make the dean's list in college -- OK. ? Good luck.
